

“THANK YOU!”

Thursday, July 16, 2020

Dear (Guest First Name),

Just wanted to say, “Thank You!” again for being on The Remarkable People Podcast. Had a great time interviewing you, and hope you had a fantastic time on the show too!

The feedback we have received on your episode has been VERY positive. Lord willing your message will continue to pick up traction with people around the world, and sooner than later, results will begin to show from your powerful honesty, transparency, and efforts.

As a small token of my appreciation, I have had this special edition RPP t-shirt made for you. Hope you like it, it fits well, and you can wear it comfortably and proudly! 😊

And if you’d like to join the Remarkable Hero Club, all you have to do is take a picture of yourself wearing the t-shirt doing your best “superhero” pose. Then, simply share the photo with us and your friends on social media. When you do, please email us and tag your posts with the hashtag(s) #RPP and/or #RemarkablePeoplePodcast. Can’t wait to see your best hero pose! 🙌 😊

Thanks again for sharing your story, insights, and time with us (Guest First Name). You truly are a Remarkable person, and an inspiration to us all my friend!

Wishing you only the very best,

David Pasqualone

HOW TO MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR PODCAST EPISODE

To help you promote your interview and get the most out of the podcast episode, here are a few easy steps you can take to maximize your results and reach more people with your story.

1. Post a link and short description to your podcast episode on all your social media pages and online profiles.
 - a. Ask your family & friends to check it out, like it, share it, and leave positive comments!
 - b. Don't forget to use 3-5 related topical hashtags to your story and #RPP #RemarkablePeople so people searching can find the podcast episode
2. Send a quick email blast about your podcast episode to your mailing list contacts!
3. Have a website?
 - a. Feature your episode as a blog post or page
 - b. Add a link or mention on your Home, About, and/or Bio pages
4. Include a link in the email signature of all your computers, smartphones, and devices
5. Contact social media groups, pages, and admins that would be interested in your story. Send them the link to your episode and see what happens!
6. Google terms and phrases that you feel apply to your story. Then, find blogs that relate to your story and ask them to feature your interview. Maybe even cross-promote for one another!
7. Let people know about your accomplishment by adding it to your sales and marketing literature. A simple statement like, "Featured on the Remarkable People Podcast!"

That's it! Do some of these steps, or all of them. The more effort you put in though, the more traffic you drive to your cause, help more people in need, and glorify God with your life. And remember, you can do this. You Are Remarkable! 😊
